"We are pleased to have reached this agreement with WIN Metals. It will realise value from what has become a non-core asset and enable the full focus of Meteoric on the Caldeira Ionic Adsorption Clay Rare Earth Element Project in Brazil.

"The transaction structure will see us receive a combination of cash and WIN Metals shares which will enable us to maintain some exposure to future upside from Palm Springs. We believe WIN Metals has a high quality technical team and a motivated Board to drive the project forward.

¹ Transaction value includes an estimated $1.75 million in WIN Metals shares based on a deemed issue price of a future capital raising to support the transaction.

"The additional cash funding will further strengthen our balance sheet and support activities at Caldeira."
